Secretary of State Colby Signs Proclamation Making Woman's Suffrage Effective

OFFICIAL NOTICE ARRIVES

Leaders Express Confidence That Struggle For Ballot in This Country is Over

Washington, Aug. 26—The proclamation announcing officially that the suffrage amendment to the Constitution had been ratified was signed today by Secretary Colby, of the state department.

The document was signed at 8 o'clock this morning at Mr. Colby's home, when the certificate from Governor Roberts that the Tennessee legislature had ratified the amendment was received. Secretary Colby announced his action on his arrival at his office later.

The announcement disappointed a group of suffrage workers from headquarters of the National Woman's party, who had gathered at the state department hoping to be present when Mr. Colby attached his signature to the proclamation. Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the party, was among the number.

"We are confident that the signature of Secretary Colby completes the suffrage struggle in this country," she said. "In spite of every obstacle that our opponents could put in our way, women have won the right to an equal voice in the affairs of this government. The Woman's party will not relax its vigilance, however, until it is satisfied that no further attempts will be made to wrest from the women of the United States the political equality which they have won."

Miss Paul planned to go today to New York to call a meeting of the executive committee of the party, at which the date for the national convention to fix future policy will be decided.

Colby said the reason he had not made a public ceremony of the ratification was because of considerable contention as to what groups of suffrage workers should participate.

According to Colby's aids, the decision was made because of groups of women at his home last night got in a spirited argument as to who should be represented.

Anti-suffragists who yesterday failed in their attempt to have the District of Columbia supreme court issue an order to restrain Secretary Colby from proclaiming the amendment as law, are expected now to

REMAINS OF SOLDIER TO ARRIVE TOMORROW

Body of Raymond Hamilton, First Rush County Soldier to Die Overseas, Expected

PROBABLY TO LIE IN STATE

The remains of private Raymond Hamilton, who died in France in December 1917, were shipped this morning from New York City, and were expected to be received here in the morning at 7:20 over the Pennsylvania railroad, and will be taken to the F. A. Caldwell mortuary chapel, to await funeral services.

Mrs. Edith Crager, mother of the deceased, received word about two weeks ago from the government that the remains were in New York on a ship, and would be sent here at the government's expense, if the family so desired. A delay was caused in the exchange of telegrams.

Complete plans for the funeral services were being made today, and in all probability the remains will lie in state in the corridors of the court house all day Saturday, and funeral services will be conducted Sunday afternoon with the American Legion in charge, at the residence of the deceased's sister, Mrs. Albert Pea, who lives at 1020 West Market street. Interment will be made in East Hill cemetery. The definite arrangements will be announced later.

LEGION WILL MEET FRIDAY

To Make Arrangements For Funeral of Raymond Hamilton

Rush Post 150, American Legion will meet Friday night at their quarters in the Red Men's lodge rooms, and a large attendance is urged. The meeting will be of double importance, besides being the regular monthly meeting, it will also be for the purpose of completing arrangements for the funeral services of Private Raymond Hamilton, which will be held Sunday afternoon, in charge of the local legionnaires. The American Legion has a special ritual that is used for funerals, and all members are earnestly requested to be present and learn the details for the funeral. Regular business matters will also be disposed of at the session.

WILL HEAR REPORTS OF OF MEETINGS TONIGHT

Officers and Committees of Township Farmers Organizations to Settle Fertilizer Question.

TOWNSHIP SESSIONS HELD

Officers and committees from the twelve township organizations of the Rush County Farmers' association will meet tonight in the court house, at which time the reports of the meetings held last night in each township will be heard and definite action taken on the purchasing of fertilizer for members of the county organization.

A few weeks ago township meetings were held to consider the proposition of pooling the wool clip, and a final meeting was held of the township committees, and 90 per cent of the wool in the county will be consigned to a warehouse in Chicago to await a satisfactory market, which will probably not be until after election.

The meetings for fertilizer were carried on in the same manner with good meetings being held in every township last night, and tonight the officers and reporting committees will decide upon the amount of fertilizer that will be purchased in a lump, and at the same time expect to get a special price because of the large quantity that will be ordered.

CONSTITUTIONALITY IS AGAIN ATTACKED

Second Suit is Filed Against New Coal Commission Law in Federal Court Today

RETAILERS ARE PLAINTIFFS

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 26—A second suit testing the validity of the law placing coal producers and dealers under state regulation was filed in federal court here today.

E. E. Heller, president of the Indiana Retail Coal Merchants association, filed the suit, which petitioned for an injunction to restrain the coal commission from carrying out the provisions of the law enacted by the recent special legislature. The first was filed by the mine operators.

Both suits attacked the constitutionality of the law.

Heller based his attack on the grounds that the law is discriminatory, vague and indefinite.

His suit charges that the law violates the constitution of the United States.

STRAW VOTES SHOW TREND

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 26—Reports of straw votes from several sections of the state, received at republican state headquarters today, show Harding a strong favorite over Cox. A. V. Burch, president of the Evansville Manufacturers' Association, reported that a vote was taken on a train from Evansville which resulted in 83 for Harding and 38 for Cox. Another report from Union City gave Harding 103 and Cox 32.

Large Attendance at Sixth District Rally in Connorsville Reveals G. O. P. Interest

RUSH IS WELL REPRESENTED

Sen. Watson Says he Would Achieve Nothing Higher Than to Have Confidence of Neighbors

The enthusiasm existing among republicans of the sixth district was revealed by the large attendance and the interest in the address at the rally at Roberts park Connorsville Wednesday. Rush county was better represented than any of the eight counties in the district, excepting Fayette, there being hundreds of republicans from here in attendance.

Senator James E. Watson, who spoke last and was given the largest ovation in this, his home district, related his very hearty appreciation of the way he had been supported by his friends.

"There is no satisfaction to equal that which one has when he knows that his friends have confidence in him," declared the senator speaking to the crowd as his friends and neighbors. "I would achieve nothing higher than to have the knowledge that those who know me best, those with whom I have associated all these years, believe in me."

"I pledge to you if I am elected," he said toward the close of his two-hour speech, "that I will give you the best that I have and that I will be guided by my long experience in congress and my heart in doing what I believe to be for the best interests of America."

Senator Watson reiterated the position of the republican party in the campaign on the league of nations, stating it in practically the same words as he did in his Indianapolis speech at the Marion club Tuesday evening.

"If you want the peace treaty incorporating the league of nations in the form it was brought home by the president," declared the senator, "don't send me back to the senate, because I will never vote for the creation of a foreign council which would have the power to determine when we should send troops to Europe to engage in war."

Despite assertions to the contrary, Senator Watson said, we would now be raising an army to Poland if we were a member of the league of nations, or we would be violating our moral obligation.

Senator Watson took up the league of nations article by article, as he has in previous speeches, and answered the democratic claim that the council of the league, the main governing body, could not order anything without a unanimous vote. He pointed out that in case of a dispute between two members of the league their representatives could not vote and the United States would have to leave its case to a body composed entirely of foreigners. He also called attention to the fact that in cases where the council, which is composed of one representative from the eight leading powers, fails to reach an agreement, the question is submitted to the assembly, which is composed of representatives of each of the thirty nations in the league, and on which Great Britain has six votes to the United States' one.

F. M. Wasmuth, state chairman, was among the speakers at the afternoon meeting. He recalled when Senator Watson became a figure in state politics twenty-six years ago. He described his recollections of the event when he as a young man attended his first state convention of the republican party and heard Senator Watson make his first address.

"I have no memory of the insignificant incidents of the very recent past," declared Mr. Wasmuth, "and here in the home of his friends, who have honored him so much, I want to say that there is no personal difference that will prevent me from doing my utmost to bring about the reelection of Jim Watson."

C. C. Hull, a Connorsville business man, presided at the meeting. He said that he was born a democrat, but that he became a republican.

PARTIES WILL NOW REDOUBLE EFFORTS

With Women Definitely Enfranchised Today, Organizations Prepare For Their Voting.

VOTING SCHOOLS PROBABLE

One of Results of Women Voting Will be Greater Use of Automobile Election Day.

With women definitely enfranchised today by the proclamation of Secretary of State Colby declaring the suffrage amendment to the federal constitution in full force and effect, Rush county political organizations devoted themselves to evolve plans to interest women in their newly won privilege so that they would register and go to the polls on November 2.

The poll of the voters of the county is practically complete and the two dominant parties now have a basis on which to work for a full registration on September 4. It is declared that the election may be won or lost on registration day and every effort will be made by both parties to get every man and woman of their belief to qualify for voting.

Nothing will be left undone in the education of women in regard to voting. The president of the Indiana League of Women Voters recently announced that voters instruction schools will be held in every county in the state. The republican county organization already had plans under way for such a school and it is very likely that they will not be changed on account of the announcement of the state league.

The interest of women in the campaign was clearly demonstrated by the attendance at the republican district rally in Connorsville Wednesday. There were fully as many women as men in the large audience and they listened with rapt attention to the explanation of the issues of the campaign.

One of the results of women being given the ballot, will be the greater use of the automobile on election day. Many women will find it impossible to go to the polls, both on account of the distance to the voting place and on account of their duties at home, unless some conveyance is provided.

Some women have already expressed the opinion that they will be unable to vote, although they are willing to exercise their right, unless a way is provided for them to get to the polls. It is likely that the political parties will be on the alert and will be ready to take every woman who wants to cast a ballot, to the precinct voting place. Women's committees have already been formed and they will undoubtedly have many enthusiastic helpers by election day who will be ready to supply automobiles for hauling women to and from the voting places.

What effect the vote of the women will have on the result is very doubtful, but some men are willing to wager that it will not change them much. There are some who are of the opinion that most women will vote like their husbands, but in the aggregate there will likely be so many exceptions to this rule that it is difficult to arrive at any conclusion as to the probable effect of the women voting.

Traer, Iowa, Aug. 26—James Wilson, for 16 years United States secretary of agriculture, died at his home here today. He was 86 years old. Death came after a long illness. Wilson represented Iowa, serving three terms in congress, and was secretary of agriculture in the cabinets of President McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft. Wilson was born in Ayershire, Scotland in 1835 and came to Iowa when he was 19 years old.

GREENSBURG DRAWS HEAVILY ON COUNTY

Rush County Day at American Legion Jubilee is Well Attended by Local People

MANY ARE GOING TONIGHT.

Greensburg drew heavily on Rush county today to make up a crowd for the American Legion jubilee which is being held there this week. Today was set aside as Rush county day at the jubilee and there is no question but that the people of this county responded to the invitation heartily. This was also Ripley county day at the jubilee.

One hundred tickets to Greensburg were sold over the Big Four today, and this did not take into account the large numbers who went in automobiles. The exodus was more general from the southern part of the county than elsewhere. Scores of Milroy people attended, according to reports from that place.

Many Rushville people planned to motor to Greensburg late this afternoon for the jubilee and dance which will be held tonight at the Dalmert hall.

CHICAGO CUBS TO PLAY FOR HARDING

National League Team Will Stage Exhibition Game With Local Aggregation at Marion.

CHANCE REMARK RESPONSIBLE

Marion, O., Aug. 26.—The Chicago Cubs are to do their bit for Senator Harding's front porch campaign by coming to Marion September 2 to play an exhibition game with local semi-professionals. The engagement was made today as a result of a chance remark by the senator that one of the big handicaps of the front porch was his inability to see baseball games.

William Wrigley and A. D. Lasker, two of the principal owners of the Cubs and both connected with the publicity end of the Harding campaign, arranged for the trip and offered to lend the locals any Cub battery they might pick from the game. Tyler and O'Farrell have been selected.

Both Senator and Mrs. Harding are fans and they have promised to do their share to make the occasion a red letter day at the Marion ball park. The candidate will pitch the first ball. Admission will be free, but the limited space in the grand stand will be sold and the proceeds given to charity.

Babe Ruth, home-run king, will call on Harding about the middle of September, bringing his wife. It was planned to have him play in the game against the Cubs, but he could not arrange to be here.

Most of today Senator Harding spent in consultation with various party leaders on campaign policies. Among those on his appointment list were Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois; former Senator George Sutherland of Utah; and Myron T. Herriek of Ohio, former ambassador to France. It was understood that the league issue was the principal subject of discussion, both Mr. Herriek and Mr. Sutherland, who is president of the American Bar Association, being close students of international affairs.

RUSSIA ANSWERS THE ULTIMATUM

Offers to Waive Any of Armistice Terms Not in Digest Previously Submitted

IS CONCILIATORY IN TONE

"Backs Down" On Polish Disarmament Demand But Insists Honest Bid For Peace be Made

(By United Press)

London, Aug. 26—Russia replied to the Anglo-Italian ultimatum today offering to waive any of the armistice terms proposed at Minsk which were not contained in the digest which Commissioner Kamenoff previously submitted to Premier Lloyd George.

The Bolshevik note was conciliatory in tone. It waived the proposal for a "civil militia" in Poland, "backed down" on the demands for Polish disarmament but demanded that Poland make an honest bid for peace and cease interruption of the Minsk negotiations.

The time limit for Russia's reply was to have expired tomorrow evening.

The note signed by the foreign minister, was an answer to the communication prepared by Arthur Balfour, lord president of the council, demanding that Russia modify her armistice terms to Poland to conform with those submitted to the British premier.

Great Britain and Italy particularly objected to the proposal that Poland replace her regular army with a "civil militia" composed of workers whom Russia declared could be depended upon not to attack the soviet government. The Anglo-Italian ultimatum was decided upon at a conference of Premier Lloyd George and the Italian premier at Lucerne.

The soviet note was one of considerable length. On some points the reds were inclined to be argumentative. They reproached the entente for the sending of their ultimatum and declared that they would deal with Poland alone regarding peace.

15th Red Army Surrounded

Warsaw, Aug. 26—On the central front the Poles have carried out a flanking movement to the north and have occupied Knyszyn, fifteen miles northwest of Bialystok, and Stakisiki, twelve miles northeast of Lomza.

I. & C. BUYS A SITE FOR ITS STOCK YARDS

Acre and Half of Ground Near Hackleman's Stop is Purchased of Dr. F. G. Hackleman.

NEW STOCK CARS BEING USED

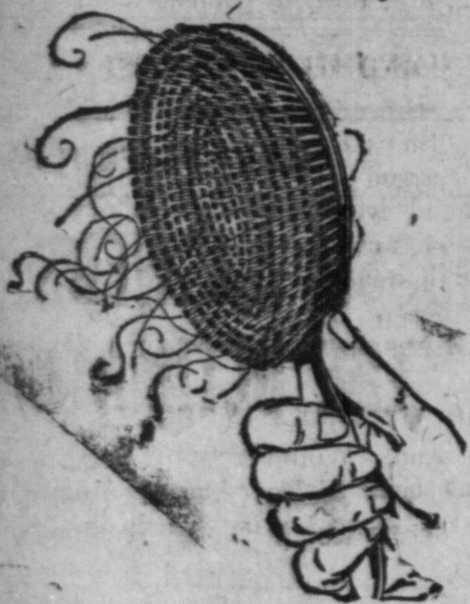

The I. and C. Interurban company has bought an acre and a half of land from Dr. F. G. Hackleman, and will soon start construction on modern stock pens, to take care of the shipping of live stock from this city to Indianapolis. The deal for the land was closed yesterday, the consideration not being made public.

The 1 1/2 acres are located at the Hackleman stop, which is the first crossing just west of Spencer street. It has been pointed out that most of the live stock is hauled to the stock pens, and by building the pens at the edge of the city, it will not be any drawback for the shippers.

The construction work will probably begin at once, and modern pens and equipment will be provided for the shippers. At present time stock trains are being operated on the Greensburg division from that city to Indianapolis. Stock cars have been built for the traction company and as many as four cars are shipped at one time. The addition of the stock pens will mean quicker transportation service, as the cars are delivered to the Indianapolis stock market in less than two hours, and service will be provided as often as needed.

ENTHUSIASM RUNS HIGH AT MEETING

can following the Cleveland period of hard times in 1893. The speakers each of whom received a generous reception, included Congressman Richard M. Elliott, Warren T. McCray, Republican nominee for Governor, Senator Watson, Mrs. Frank Dobson of Iowa, State Chairman Wasmuth and Harry C. Hoover of Wayne county, a civil war veteran who was a witness to the assassination of Lincoln. A colored quartet made a hit with its campaign songs, one of which was dedicated to Farmer McCray. A large picture of Warren G. Harding had a place above the speakers' stand.

Mrs. Dodson, who is the Iowa woman state chairman, made a republican speech that received the applause of men and women hearers alike. She gave her reasons for believing that women will largely affiliate with the republican cause. She told how the Susan B. Anthony suffrage amendment had been adopted by the present republican congress following its defeat by the last democratic congress, and gave figures to show that most of the opposition came from democratic members, especially those from the "solid South." She declared that republican states had taken progressive steps to end child labor and adopt legislation in behalf of employed women. She said that it was in southern states where the democrats are in the saddle that child labor had been a curse.

Child labor, she said, and illiteracy go hand in hand. She asserted that twenty-six republican states and only seven democratic states have any form of compulsory education. This is the home town of the sixth district representative in congress, Richard M. Elliott, who has been nominated for re-election, and he was given an enthusiastic greeting when he spoke. Women in the audience remembered that Mr. Elliott was a member of the house committee on suffrage which rushed the adoption of the suffrage amendment at the recent session of congress and they gave him a big hand.

Mr. Elliott expressed his pleasure that women have at last attained the right of suffrage, and he urged that they register on September 4 and thus qualify to vote in November. He recalled that George W. Julian, then a resident of Centerville and a member of congress from this district, was the sponsor for the first federal suffrage amendment introduced in congress, this being in the seventies. Recalling the suffrage fight in the recent congress, Mr. Elliott said that the amendment was adopted by the house of representatives by a vote of 304 to 90, and that of the opposition votes cast, seventy-two were democratic and only eighteen republican.

Mr. McCray, heralded as the farmer-business man candidate for governor, was roundly applauded when he declared:

"I have no hobbies or fads to try out."

The applause continued when he added:

"I believe the office of governor is essentially an executive office, I have but one crowning political ambition," he continued, "and that is to give them an administration that will be marked as being successful in all things pertaining to good government."

He declared his belief that the same business principles which any well managed and successful business organization would employ can be applied with equal success and satisfaction in handling the business of the state. He advocated the adoption of a budget system as a business method of controlling disbursements in the handling of the state's fiscal affairs.

SCOUTS' EMERGENCY SERVICE.

How boy scouts hold themselves ready to render a service where intelligence and promptness are needed is illustrated by the following note from Scout Executive A. A. Jameson of Atlanta, Ga.:

"Miss Anne Morgan was in Atlanta recently in connection with her work for devastated France. She desired to show a certain movie film at Macon. She phoned scout headquarters and asked if we could provide a scout to go to Washington, D. C., secure the film and deliver it to her in Macon in time for a showing there. We selected Scout Barton Ford, and he left on an hour's notice, making close connections on the entire trip and arriving in Macon on schedule time. He was in Washington only from 1 o'clock at night till 7:30 in the morning, so he did not get to see much of the capital."

SCOUT PREPAREDNESS PRAYER.

O God of all humanity, grant to us as Boy Scouts the constant vision of great service. And grant us energy to learn our work—to be prepared.

Give us this day not only the joy of its good turns, but the practice in service, in thoughtfulness and forethought, in decision, and in sacrifice.

So bring us with warmed hearts, trained minds and fit bodies to that great unknown hour of emergency, for which we as scouts are pledged to "be prepared."—Scouting.

BETWEEN a cruel and powerful Sheik of Arabia and a daring American captain of the famous Black Horse Troop, a deadly feud arose for possession of Sari, the lovely, unveiled Virgin, beggar girl of the Stamboul streets. One she hated and dreaded—the other she almost loved. Then, one fateful day, she entered, unseen, a Turkish mosque, forbidden to women under penalty of death. There she saw a sight that froze the blood in her veins—that changed her in a moment from a care-free girl to a woman. What was the dreadful act Sari saw in the sacred mosque; who committed it, and why? What became of the Sheik and the American as a consequence or what she saw? Those are tremendous moments in "The Virgin of Stamboul". Don't miss them. Now playing.

AMENDMENT MADE PART OF BASIC LAW

direct their efforts toward having the United States supreme court pass on the legality of Tennessee's ratification. Suffrage opponents predicted the court would hold that the legislature had no authority to act.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, was expected to arrive in Washington from Nashville, in time for a suffrage jollification, which will be held here tonight in a theatre.

Alfred D. Smith, attorney for Charles S. Fairchild, an official of the American Constitutional League on whose behalf and of the league the petition for an injunction against Mr. Colby was filed, said after the ruling that he would ask a formal order of the dismissal from Justice Siddons, in order that he might appeal to the District of Columbia court of appeals at once, with a request that the case be certified directly to the United States supreme court, and set for early trial.

The action of Justice Siddons yesterday in denying an injunction, paralleled in a measure that of Justice Bailey, of the same court, last month, except that Justice Bailey granted a "show cause" order against Secretary Colby in a similar bill filed by the same plaintiffs, but after hearing, declined to issue the injunction asked, on grounds of lack of jurisdiction and insufficient showing. In dismissing the bill yesterday, Justice Siddons said he did not wish to review Justice Bailey's action in a similar case, and that to issue the show cause order would be an "unwarranted interference with a purely ministerial action of the secretary of state."

Mr. Smith said he still hoped to obtain a decision before the November election. If, however, the appeal should be carried through the District of Columbia court of appeals to the supreme court of the United States, it could not be argued until after the regular meeting of the court in October, with little likelihood that a decision would be reached before election day. In that event, it was pointed out, the women of the country would be legally entitled to vote, with the result that, should the supreme court later decide against the legality of the Tennessee ratification, the validity of the entire national election would be in question.

The anti-suffrage forces also are challenging the legality of ratification in Missouri, West Virginia and Ohio.

Summer Work to Enable Pedagoges to Continue With Schools—Pay Increases Seen

New York, August 26—America's army of "public school teachers" will return to the classrooms next month a richer and wiser lot. For they have been making hay while the sun shone this summer—many of them literally, other figuratively.

When high price waves hit the ranks of the pedagoges last year thousands of them were forced to seek employment in other branches of endeavor, while hundreds others obtained part time work to aid in keeping the wolf from the door until the session of school was ended. Still others resolved to draw on their already salted-away resources and to stick it out until the summer vacation arrived, then to spend the hot months in working to put the money back.

School superintendents, boards of education and teachers' societies were asked in several cities how the teachers were spending the summer, and how many of them were doing other than school work, with a view to re-entering the little red school-houses all over the land in September with a fattened pocketbook.

New York—Of the 21,321 elementary, high school and vocational teachers in the greater city, most available figures show more than 5,600 obtained work on farms and in offices. Approximately 400 worked at tutoring backward students; 7,000 attended summer and vocational schools; 600 worked at canvassing, selling insurance; school books, and other field work; 100 conducted Boy Scouts' camps and personally conducted tours to nearby summer resorts, etc., while 150 were reported as doing chautauqua work. No accurate record was kept at board of education offices.

Chicago—Incomplete records kept by the teachers' federation, the board of education and parent-teachers' associations, show approximately 4,500 of the 8,558 teachers in Chicago did part or full time outside work this summer. Most of them tutored, acted as salesmen in department stores and in the field, conducted summer camps, and worked on farms. About 2,000 attended summer schools in and out of Chicago, while more than 500 taught in night schools.

Indianapolis—E. L. Hines, superintendent of public instruction, said that scores of high and grade school principals were working as clerks and helpers in the automobile industry, while hundreds had gone to the farms.

"One cannot blame the teachers if they seek outside work, as they deserve more than the $800 a year they now get in the schools. We will be about 700 teachers short when school opens this fall."

Atlanta—Thirty percent of Atlanta's school teachers were away at college summer schools this summer trying to increase their efficiency, according to W. F. Dykes, superintendent of schools. About 20 percent of the high school teachers have resigned, and their places will have to be filled by others this fall, Dykes said. This was done because of low salaries paid, he said. Those not attending summer schools are working as clerks, salesmen and farm hands in and around Atlanta.

Detroit—Teachers of Detroit are working in automobile factories, and selling insurance and school books. Many are engaged in educational propaganda work. No records as to actual numbers or percentages were kept.

The board of education at Detroit has filed a suit against the city to compel payment of a bonus to teachers promised in contracts for the coming year. The city controller has refused payment and many teachers declare they will not return to school houses this fall unless the matter is favorably adjusted.

Denver—Coaching students for high school and college, newspaper reporting, working on farms and in orchards, and doing clerical work have kept Denver teachers occupied this summer. Scores of teachers of both sexes have been attending summer school. Chances favor an increase in teachers' pay, education board officials declare.

New Orleans—Twenty percent of New Orleans' teachers attended summer schools, many are selling insurance, while twenty-five percent got jobs at teaching in summer courses. One is running for congress.

Prospects of an increased pay check for teachers this fall are bright, according to J. M. Gwinn, superintendent. A proposed constitutional amendment will be voted on empowering the state to levy a 7-mill tax on all property for school purposes.

New Haven—Acting as governesses, nurses, saleswomen, agents and summer school teachers have been vocations picked out by New Haven school teachers to fatten their pocketbooks this summer.

New Haven teachers are hopeful that the coming school year may not cause them to much want as was experienced last year. A thirty-three percent increase in pay is effective September 1, and there will likely be enough teachers for all the schools, according to Superintendent F. H. Beede.

Portland, Oregon—Fewer teachers in Portland sought outside work this summer than usual. Officials say the reasons are that there is not the same demand for help as there was before the war; that summer courses offered this year were more attractive than before, and that Portland teachers were given a flat increase of $400 over last year. Of those who worked this summer most of them went to farms and ranches, it was reported.

San Antonio—Judging from summer addresses given me, most of the teachers of San Antonio are at home helping mother," said Jeremiah Rhodes, superintendent of schools. Teachers will be given a $150 increase at the beginning of the session next month, Rhodes said.

Springfield, Ill.—Working on Illinois farms and tutoring appear to be the vocations selected by teachers at Springfield this summer. Reports from superintendent show there will be a shortage of teachers this fall. A change in the maximum salary fixed by the state legislature will be necessary before there will be a change for the better, it was said.

Seats will be on sale for the big home talent K. of P. Minstrels Saturday, August 28 at Hargrove & Mullin's drug store at 9:00 A. M. Limit, 10 tickets to person. 75c and $1.00 plus war tax. 136t8

STOCKING OF STATE WATERS CONTINUES

During First 10 days of August 18,200 Bass And Crapple Fingerlings are Distributed

BIG DEMAND FOR BLACK BASS

Total Output of All State Fish Hatcheries up to Aug. 1 Was 551,585 For Planting

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 26—Further stocking of state waters by the division of fish and game of the Department of Conservation is being carried out on an extensive scale from the state fish hatcheries.

During the first ten days of August, according to George N. Mannfeld, division chief, 18,200 bass and crapple fingerlings were delivered from the Riverside hatchery and waters in Washington, Orange, Lawrence, Randolph, Wells, Huntington and Madison counties were stocked on applications of fish and game protective associations and individuals.

The total fish plants distributed from the Riverside state hatchery so far this season is 398,585 of which 391,875 were black bass and 6,710 crapple.

The greatest demand has been for black bass plants.

"We are particularly fortunate in affecting an arrangement with the Marion County Fish and Game Protection Association, long engaged in the propagation of bass for restocking Marion county waters," says Mr. Mannfeld, "for the association was kind enough to make available for use by the state its buildings, ponds and equipment."

Members also contributed from the association's brood stock of bass and some were given to the state hatchery.

This year the state and association hatchery is operated as one, under the supervision of Wm. Borden-kecker, whose work as a fish culturist is particularly gratifying.

Work at the three other state hatcheries also was stimulated. Mr. Mannfeld says, and the season's output up to Aug. 1, for the four state hatcheries was 551,585 fish for planting, all raised in ponds.

Is Sanity Returning?

In one of our large cities there is a manufacturer who employs numerous traveling men who penetrate every nook and corner of the country. These men are instructed, in addition to the sale of goods, to keep their fingers constantly upon the pulse of the people and report to the home office.

This manufacturer is firmly of the opinion that the country has about recovered from its delirium of commercial and financial insanity and is on the return to normal conditions and stability.

The public has ceased to buy with such extravagant abandon, confining itself to the purchase of such articles as are legitimately required.

This has curtailed the demand, with the result that thousands of employees have been laid off, and others will follow.

Most of these men have spent their money as easily as it was earned, and it is only a question of time when they will be forced to accept other employment at reduced compensation.

This, thinks the manufacturer marks the beginning of a downward trend in the cost of labor, with a consequent decline in the price of the finished products.

He thinks the decline will be slow and gradual in all lines, but effective, and he does not look for a panic or any other great disturbance of

Make Haste Slowly

Woman with her vote should make haste slowly, lest in the end she makes no haste at all.

Feminine suffrage was not achieved in a day, nor in a month, nor a year. It has required many years of ceaseless effort and countless disappointments to place her on a political equality with man.

She can not expect to revolutionize our political system in a day, nor in a year. To attempt such a sweeping overthrow of the customs of years would destroy her future prestige, and therefore her usefulness.

The laudable ambition of womanhood is a better government and a more enlightened citizenry. This can be accomplished gradually, but it can not be done with a stampede.

The tortoise travels slowly, but it gets there in the end.

Twenty-nine out of thirty republican states in which the woman's suffrage amendment was submitted, ratified it without any legislative fights. Just seven out of fourteen democratic states which had the chance, voted favorably on the amendment—and Tennessee, the last one, is trying to back out.

Secretary of War Baker says that Sen. Harding is one hundred years behind the time—which is almost as far behind as Baker was on preparedness.

Women may find jury service agreeable until they get in a situation where there are eleven stubborn people who refuse to budge an inch.

President McKinley once said that the tariff would always be an issue in politics, and he was not a prophet either.

BATTLE WILL MOVE INTO THE OPEN SOON

Both Republican and Democratic Political Organizations Complete Preliminaries

REGISTRATION IS NEXT STEP

The campaign will pass from the formative stage into the open in the very near future. Up to this time the activity of both parties has been confined largely to organization work, but as the day of the general election approaches, the battle for votes will be waged with stump speeches and public meetings.

The first step in the campaign was the taking of the poll of voters. This has been practically completed by both parties, and the poll books have been turned over to the county organizations by the precinct committeemen. It is with these books that the registration for voters will be checked after the first registration day on Saturday, September 4.

As no voter is entitled to cast his ballot unless he shall have first registered, party workers are directing special attention to the registration sessions. Both are urging as nearly complete registration on the first day as possible. After the registration boards close on September 4 the county auditor will begin the task of making copies of the names and addresses of those who have complied with the law. One set of names will be delivered to the Republican organization and the other to the Democratic central committee. Workers will then check off of the poll books the names of those who registered and in this way they will be able to ascertain who must register on October 4.

Current Comment

Common Sense Holds Sway

(New York Sun)

Nothing has been more refreshing in the preliminary political skirmishes of this summer than the defeat, wherever the issue has been joined, of those groups whose purpose is to take unto themselves what other men have earned.

The variegated Socialists, the syndicalist labor wing, the rowdy L. W. W. mob and the sour-brained advocates of bolshevism—what a lot of threats they uttered toward their American opponents.

They were going to beat Henry Allen because he prevented the lawless mining crowd in Kansas from freezing the people of his State. But Allen was renominated by the majority that his fine courage deserved.

They were going to beat Senator Cummings of Iowa, one of the authors of the new railroad law, because he opposed the Plumb Plan, that scheme which as not even the virtues of communism in that it would confiscate in favor of a group rather than a people. But Cummins has been renominated and probably will be reelected, as his service merits.

They were going to see that Representative Thetus Sims of Tennessee went back to the House to continue his activities in behalf of the Plumb Plan, of which he was the sponsor at the Capitol. But the Democrats of the Eighth Tennessee district refused to renominate this hero of the crew that sees progress only in peculation. And in Ohio the only Republican Representative defeated for renomination last week was the only Ohio Republican in the House who voted against the Esch-Cummins railroad bill.

RUSSIA ANSWERS THE ULTIMATUM

Occupation of these towns and the capture of Kolno completes the work of forging a ring around the 15th Bolshevik army.

Other soviet forces have reassembled at various places and are making repeated attacks in their attempts to break the Polish cordon. Nine attacks were made in the region of Kolno, but are all said to have been repulsed with enormous losses. Among the captives is the commander of a Bolshevik division. Remnants of the 4th Bolshevik army, which were cut off by the Polish advance in the region of Kolno, have succeeded in cutting their way through to the eastward after a battle lasting ten hours, according to an official statement issued here.

The soviet troops carried out a regrouping maneuver and succeeded in making their way out of the trap which had closed on them, but at last accounts were again surrounded by more numerous forces of the 4th Polish army.

The 4th Polish army continues its work of rounding up detachments of Bolsheviks in the region west of the railroad running from Modlin to Mlawa.

In the maneuver, which resulted in the occupation of Lomza, the Poles took more than 2,000 prisoners and nine cannon. There was street fighting in Bialystok for more than twenty-four hours before the Bolsheviks were ejected. Reports re-

LAW REFORMS URGED AT BAR CONVENTION

Method of Elevating Legal Profession Also Proposed at Annual Meeting of Attorneys.

WOULD INCORPORATE BODIES

St. Louis, Aug. 26.—Law reforms and methods of elevating the standards of the legal profession were under consideration at the annual convention of the American Bar Association here today.

The need for maintaining professional standard of unimpeachable character was emphasized in reports submitted to the convention, both by the committee on professional ethics and grievances and by the newly organized section of the conference of bar association delegates.

The latter body recommended that the bars of the several states be incorporated, and that all members be members of the corporation and subject to its rules of discipline. The report also urged closer co-operation among bar associations.

The question of bar incorporation was treated also by the committee on professional ethics and grievances, which, it was said, has conducted a nation-wide inquiry among the judiciary during the last year.

ceived at the war department say the 55th Bolshevik division has been called from Grodno, to attempt to drive Poles out of Bialystok. In the neighborhood of that city more than 7,000 prisoners and eighteen guns were taken by the Poles.

Polish troops yesterday, after hard fighting, captured the fortress of Ostrolenka, twenty-two miles southwest of Lomza, and forced a passage of the Narew river. Polish successes in the neighborhood of Lemberg are also reported. The French General Lamezan has taken command on the Polish southern front, it is reported.

Soviet troops are reported to be concentrating in great numbers along the Beresina river, where the recent offensive against Warsaw was begun, and military observers here are speculating as to the possibility they may begin an attack against the central Polish front. It is believed possible the Bolsheviks may make a stand in the event the Poles continue their pursuit of the retreating soviet armies eastward from the Bug river on the south, and the Grodno, on the north.

Washington, Aug. 26.—Gordon Woodbury, formerly a member of the New Hampshire legislature, has been appointed assistant secretary of the navy to succeed Franklin D. Roosevelt.

PICKED DYNAMITE CAP.

Elwood, Ind., Aug. 26.—Miss Mildred Murray, age sixteen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Murray, found some old cartridges and caps in a trunk last night and picked a dynamite cap with a hairpin until it exploded. Both of the girl's hands were injured, the left being so badly shattered that it was necessary to amputate the thumb and three fingers. The thumb and index finger on the right hand probably will be saved.

GERMANY BENEFITS BY SPA DECISION

Coal Agreement Has Stimulated Nation to Water Power Development to Conserve Coal

STIMULATED NATIONAL UNITY

Forced Development of a Plan For Dividing the Nation Into "Economic Districts"

By CARL D. GROAT (U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Berlin, Aug. 6 (By Mail).—While many industrial chieftains predict calamitous results from the Spa coal agreement, especially in the coming winter, the agreement is bringing Germany certain blessings in disguise.

First, it has stimulated the nation to water power development.

Second, it has shown industrial leaders the need of unified effort, and has forced development of a plan for dividing the nation into "economic districts" for economic use of water, gas and electricity.

Third, it has stimulated national unity more than any event since the war, and is helping give the separatists movement in south Germany, a serious black eye.

Development of waterpower, particularly in south Germany is no new thought. Keen engineers have been studying this problem for a long time, and have previously taken steps toward utilizing water as a supplement to other power.

But, with signing of the coal agreement in Spa, the nation came face to face with the problem—more power, with less coal. It realized that it was going to have shorter coal rations this winter than before. Hence, the idea of water power development.

The Reichswirtschaftsrat—a body of the brainiest business and industrial leaders of Germany—sitting soon after Spa, had before it a resolution which said:

"For relief of the emergency situation, created by coal deliveries to the Ausland, the government will immediately take steps for building up water power as fast as possible and in the best possible manner, especially in South Germany."

A companion resolution called for creation of a committee of experts whose duty it would be to draw the lines for division of the nation into economic units. In these subdivisions, a unified system of power, water, gas, electricity supply would be worked out.

As for the third point—stimulation of national unity of spirit—it can be said that the north and the south are realizing that they must pull together if they are to avoid foreign occupation of the Ruhr and infinite resultant damage to German business therefrom.

And the miners themselves are hanging the threat of the freezing and starvation over the heads of separatists agitators. Herr Hue, miner leader, has served notice in no uncertain terms that any portion of the country indulging in a separatist movement will be shut off immediately from any further supply of coal.

The nation as a whole is taking the Spa agreement in good spirit, despite many voices which say that it spells industrial stagnation this winter, with the consequent throwing of several hundred thousand workers out of employment. Germany doesn't like the Spa coal agreement; it has been told that it is more than Germany can bear, but insofar as one now can see, the whole country is determined to do its best to fulfill the treaty. Then, it hopes that later the Entente will be ready for more modification of the Versailles pact.

An interesting phase of the whole subject is that many observers are inclined to believe that the measures now being taken toward fulfillment of the coal pact, curtailment of coal usage, and utilization of other means of power are forerunners of an earlier socialization of coal and water power than otherwise might have been the case. The coal mines have long since lost their original strictly private character, and stand under considerable government control. But, as things now trend, there are signs that actual socialization will be accomplished—and that the day has been moved forward by the Spa conference.

TO REBUILD FORT DEARBORN

Plan to Reconstruct Old Fort as a Permanent Educational Exhibit

Chicago, August 26—Plans are being made here to reconstruct historic Fort Dearborn at Eighteenth street and Lake Michigan as a permanent educational exhibit.

In addition to the stockade, it is proposed that the homes of the earliest settlers of Chicago or "Fort Dearborn", shall be rebuilt. The work will be done under the direction of Chicago's First Families.

FIRST JURY OF WOMEN

Akron, O., Aug. 26.—State history was made in the little drab municipal courtroom of Judge A. F. O'Neil late yesterday when a jury of twelve women returned a verdict for the defendant in an eviction case. It is the first time a woman jury has ever passed on a legal case in Ohio, and one of the few women juries that has ever been impaneled in the country. The decision of the jury saved a newly wedded couple from being evicted from their home. Attorneys for the plaintiff said they were satisfied with the verdict and would not appeal.

FALL IN RETAIL PRICE OF COAL IS FORECAST

Prediction is Made Coincident With Announcement of Renewal of Campaign on Profiteers

DROP AT BALTIMORE ALREADY.

Washington, Aug. 26.—Forecast of a tumble in coal prices was made by department of justice officials coincident with the announcement of renewed activities in the campaign against coal profiteers. With production on the increase prediction was made that the coal market would follow sugar prices in a break in the near future.

Prices already have dropped at Baltimore, where the federal agents started to gather evidence against an alleged combination of dealers who were declared to have boosted prices through repeated resales. A similar attack on profiteers has been ordered at Hampton Roads, one of the largest bunkering stations on the eastern seaboard. Complaints have come frequently from there and from Baltimore, it was said.

Although interior points have reported exorbitant coal prices in many instances, it was said that the "flagrant violations" of the Lever law were confined largely to the Atlantic coast. The department will press its investigations at all points, however, as a part of the program outlined Monday when the attorney-general instructed all United States attorneys to delve into the coal price situation more deeply on the basis of information that pyramiding of prices has been accomplished through interstate sales.

The department's hands are tied at Philadelphia by a court order restraining the United States attorney from prosecuting profiteers under the Lever law, which was held to be unconstitutional by the court there. But the court will not stay the gathering of evidence, according to H. S. Mitchell, special assistant to the attorney-general, who is directing the campaign.

The tent is to be put up near the administration building, and Mrs. Julia C. Henderson, of Indianapolis, prominently known for her suffrage and women's club work, will be in charge. The Republican women of each congressional district will be asked to be hostess at the tent on a particular day, and every district women's chairman has been called upon to help make fair week a banner event for Republican women.

It is planned to have a number of addresses, a women's quartet and motion pictures. Souvenirs and banners bearing the inscription: "I am a Republican". All women, regardless of their politics, are invited to make the Republican tent their headquarters.

Thousands of people—Turks, Armenians, Arabians and Negroes, thousand of horses, camels, donkeys and dogs—and a cast of principals and all-star calibre surround Priscilla Dean in her latest Universal-Jewel master-feature, "The Virgin of Stamboul" which will be shown at the Mystic Theatre next Monday and Tuesday. Tod Browning directed this production based on H. H. Van Loan's engrossing story.

The Mosque of Aya Sophia, one of the picturesque landmarks of the ancient quarter of Constantinople, is faithfully reproduced for one sequence of scenes in "The Virgin of Stamboul", starring Priscilla Dean, which is to be seen at the Mystic Theatre. The evening program for the two nights will be a benefit show for the Psi Iota Xi sorority of this city.

Good Feature for Alice Joyce

Alice Joyce will be seen at the Princess theater today and tomorrow, in another big special production, entitled "Dollars and the Woman". This is an adaptation from the widely read magazine story by Albert Payson Terhune.

The motion picture public link the name of Alice Joyce with big things, and each release strengthens this faith in the ability of the actress. "Dollars and the Woman" is appropriate for two reasons. First, it is a continuation of Vitaphone's policy of producing stories by great authors, and, secondly, it gives Miss Joyce a role somewhat different from anything in which she has appeared before.

"Dollars and the Woman" is a story of contrast. It is a tale of wealth and abject poverty—dramatic, but not melodramatic, and, above all, consistent and true to life. It contains many human interest touches such as only an artist can delineate. These little spots of realism when handled by Miss Joyce assumes new proportions. They become vital to the story and make the star take a new position in the firmament of dramatic achievement.

A cast of well-known players supplemented by an orchestra from one of New York's big hotels and 20 extra players support Miss Joyce in this special production. Robert Gordon, recently co-starred in several pictures with Sylvia Breamer, Miss Joyce's leading man.

AMENDMENT MADE PART OF BASIC LAW

Secretary of State Colby Signs Proclamation Making Woman's Suffrage Effective

OFFICIAL NOTICE ARRIVES

Leaders Express Confidence That Struggle For Ballot in This Country is Over

Washington, Aug. 26—The proclamation announcing officially that the suffrage amendment to the Constitution had been ratified was signed today by Secretary Colby, of the state department.

The document was signed at 8 o'clock this morning at Mr. Colby's home, when the certificate from Governor Roberts that the Tennessee legislature had ratified the amendment was received. Secretary Colby announced his action on his arrival at his office later.

The announcement disappointed a group of suffrage workers from headquarters of the National Woman's party, who had gathered at the state department hoping to be present when Mr. Colby attached his signature to the proclamation. Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the party, was among the number.

"We are confident that the signature of Secretary Colby completes the suffrage struggle in this country," she said. "In spite of every obstacle that our opponents could put in our way, women have won the right to an equal voice in the affairs of this government. The Woman's party will not relax its vigilance, however, until it is satisfied that no further attempts will be made to wrest from the women of the United States the political equality which they have won."

Miss Paul planned to go today to New York to call a meeting of the executive committee of the party, at which the date for the national convention to fix future policy will be decided.

Colby said the reason he had not made a public ceremony of the ratification was because of considerable contention as to what groups of suffrage workers should participate.

According to Colby's aids, the decision was made because of groups of women at his home last night got in a spirited argument as to who should be represented.

Anti-suffragists who yesterday failed in their attempt to have the District of Columbia supreme court issue an order to restrain Secretary Colby from proclaiming the amendment as law, are expected now to

REMAINS OF SOLDIER TO ARRIVE TOMORROW

Body of Raymond Hamilton, First Rush County Soldier to Die Overseas, Expected

PROBABLY TO LIE IN STATE

The remains of private Raymond Hamilton, who died in France in December 1917, were shipped this morning from New York City, and were expected to be received here in the morning at 7:20 over the Pennsylvania railroad, and will be taken to the F. A. Caldwell mortuary chapel, to await funeral services.

Mrs. Edith Crager, mother of the deceased, received word about two weeks ago from the government that the remains were in New York on a ship, and would be sent here at the government's expense, if the family so desired. A delay was caused in the exchange of telegrams.

Complete plans for the funeral services were being made today, and in all probability the remains will lie in state in the corridors of the court house all day Saturday, and funeral services will be conducted Sunday afternoon with the American Legion in charge, at the residence of the deceased's sister, Mrs. Albert Pea, who lives at 1020 West Market street. Interment will be made in East Hill cemetery. The definite arrangements will be announced later.

LEGION WILL MEET FRIDAY

To Make Arrangements For Funeral of Raymond Hamilton

Rush Post 150, American Legion will meet Friday night at their quarters in the Red Men's lodge rooms, and a large attendance is urged. The meeting will be of double importance, besides being the regular monthly meeting, it will also be for the purpose of completing arrangements for the funeral services of Private Raymond Hamilton, which will be held Sunday afternoon, in charge of the local legionnaires. The American Legion has a special ritual that is used for funerals, and all members are earnestly requested to be present and learn the details for the funeral. Regular business matters will also be disposed of at the session.

WILL HEAR REPORTS OF OF MEETINGS TONIGHT

Officers and Committees of Township Farmers Organizations to Settle Fertilizer Question.

TOWNSHIP SESSIONS HELD

Officers and committees from the twelve township organizations of the Rush County Farmers' association will meet tonight in the court house, at which time the reports of the meetings held last night in each township will be heard and definite action taken on the purchasing of fertilizer for members of the county organization.

A few weeks ago township meetings were held to consider the proposition of pooling the wool clip, and a final meeting was held of the township committees, and 90 per cent of the wool in the county will be consigned to a warehouse in Chicago to await a satisfactory market, which will probably not be until after election.

The meetings for fertilizer were carried on in the same manner with good meetings being held in every township last night, and tonight the officers and reporting committees will decide upon the amount of fertilizer that will be purchased in a lump, and at the same time expect to get a special price because of the large quantity that will be ordered.

CONSTITUTIONALITY IS AGAIN ATTACKED

Second Suit is Filed Against New Coal Commission Law in Federal Court Today

RETAILERS ARE PLAINTIFFS

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 26—A second suit testing the validity of the law placing coal producers and dealers under state regulation was filed in federal court here today.

E. E. Heller, president of the Indiana Retail Coal Merchants association, filed the suit, which petitioned for an injunction to restrain the coal commission from carrying out the provisions of the law enacted by the recent special legislature. The first was filed by the mine operators.

Both suits attacked the constitutionality of the law.

Heller based his attack on the grounds that the law is discriminatory, vague and indefinite.

His suit charges that the law violates the constitution of the United States.

STRAW VOTES SHOW TREND

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 26—Reports of straw votes from several sections of the state, received at republican state headquarters today, show Harding a strong favorite over Cox. A. V. Burch, president of the Evansville Manufacturers' Association, reported that a vote was taken on a train from Evansville which resulted in 84 for Harding and 38 for Cox. Another report from Union City gave Harding 103 and Cox 32.

ENTHUSIASM RUNS HIGH AT MEETING PARTIES WILL NOW REDOUBLE EFFORTS

Large Attendance at Sixth District Rally in Connersville Reveals G. O. P. Interest

RUSH IS WELL REPRESENTED

Sen. Watson Says he Would Achieve Nothing Higher Than to Have Confidence of Neighbors

The enthusiasm existing among republicans of the sixth district was revealed by the large attendance and the interest in the address at the rally at Roberts park Connersville Wednesday. Rush county was better represented than any of the eight counties in the district, excepting Fayette, there being hundreds of republicans from here in attendance.

Senator James E. Watson, who spoke last and was given the largest ovation in this, his home district, related his very hearty appreciation of the way he had been supported by his friends.

"There is no satisfaction to equal that which one has when he knows that his friends have confidence in him," declared the senator speaking to the crowd as his friends and neighbors. "I would achieve nothing higher than to have the knowledge that those who know me best, those with whom I have associated all these years, believe in me."

"I pledge to you if I am elected," he said toward the close of his two-hour speech, "that I will give you the best that I have and that I will be guided by my long experience in congress and my heart in doing what I believe to be for the best interests of America."

Senator Watson reiterated the position of the republican party in the campaign on the league of nations, stating it in practically the same words as he did in his Indianapolis speech at the Marion club Tuesday evening.

"If you want the peace treaty incorporating the league of nations in the form it was brought home by the president," declared the senator, "don't send me back to the senate, because I will never vote for the creation of a foreign council which would have the power to determine when we should send troops to Europe to engage in war."

Despite assertions to the contrary, Senator Watson said, we would now be raising an army to Poland if we were a member of the league of nations, or we would be violating our moral obligation.

Senator Watson took up the league of nations article by article, as he has in previous speeches, and answered the democratic claim that the council of the league, the main governing body, could not order anything without a unanimous vote. He pointed out that in case of a dispute between two members of the league their representatives could not vote and the United States would have to leave its case to a body composed entirely of foreigners. He also called attention to the fact that in cases where the council, which is composed of one representative from the eight leading powers, fails to reach an agreement, the question is submitted to the assembly, which is composed of representatives of each of the thirty nations in the league, and on which Great Britain has six votes to the United States' one.

F. M. Wasmuth, state chairman, was among the speakers at the afternoon meeting. He recalled when Senator Watson became a figure in state politics twenty-six years ago. He described his recollections of the event when he as a young man attended his first state convention of the republican party and heard Senator Watson make his first address.

"I have no memory of the insignificant incidents of the very recent past," declared Mr. Wasmuth, "and here in the home of his friends, who have honored him so much, I want to say that there is no personal difference that will prevent me from doing my utmost to bring about the reelection of Jim Watson."

C. C. Hall, a Connersville business man, presided at the meeting. He said that he was born a democrat, but that he became a republican.

With Women Definitely Enfranchised Today, Organizations Prepare For Their Voting.

VOTING SCHOOLS PROBABLE

One of Results of Women Voting Will be Greater Use of Automobile Election Day.

With women definitely enfranchised today by the proclamation of Secretary of State Corby declaring the federal constitution in full force and effect, Rush county political organizations devoted themselves to evolve plans to interest women in their newly won privilege so that they would register and go to the polls on November 2.

The poll of the voters of the county is practically complete and the two dominant parties now have a basis on which to work for a full registration on September 4. It is declared that the election may be won or lost on registration day and every effort will be made by both parties to get every man and woman of their belief to qualify for voting.

Nothing will be left undone in the education of women in regard to voting. The president of the Indiana League of Women Voters recently announced that voters' instruction schools will be held in every county in the state. The republican county organization already had plans under way for such a school and it is very likely that they will not be changed on account of the announcement of the state league.

The interest of women in the campaign was clearly demonstrated by the attendance at the republican district rally in Connersville Wednesday. There were fully as many women as men in the large audience and they listened with rapt attention to the explanation of the issues of the campaign.

One of the results of women being given the ballot, will be the greater use of the automobile on election day. Many women will find it impossible to go to the polls, both on account of the distance to the voting place and on account of their duties at home, unless some conveyance is provided.

Some women have already expressed the opinion that they will be unable to vote, although they are willing to exercise their right, unless a way is provided for them to get to the polls. It is likely that the political parties will be on the alert and will be ready to take every woman who wants to cast a ballot, to the precinct voting place. Women's committees have already been formed and they will undoubtedly have many enthusiastic helpers by election day who will be ready to supply automobiles for hauling women to and from the voting places.

What effect the vote of the women will have on the result is very doubtful, but some men are willing to wager that it will not change them much. There are some who are of the opinion that most women will vote like their husbands, but in the aggregate there will likely be so many exceptions to this rule that it is difficult to arrive at any conclusion as to the probable effect of the women voting.

JAMES WILSON DIES TODAY

Former Secretary of Agriculture Expires at Traer, Iowa.

(By United Press)

Traer, Iowa, Aug. 26—James Wilson, for 16 years United States secretary of agriculture, died at his home here today. He was 86 years old. Death came after a long illness. Wilson represented Iowa, serving three terms in congress, and was secretary of agriculture in the cabinets of President McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft. Wilson was born in Ayrshire, Scotland in 1835 and came to Iowa when he was 19 years old.

GREENSBURG DRAWS HEAVILY ON COUNTY

Rush County Day at American Legion Jubilee is Well Attended by Local People

MANY ARE GOING TONIGHT.

Greensburg drew heavily on Rush county today to make up a crowd for the American Legion jubilee which is being held there this week. Today was set aside as Rush county day at the jubilee and there is no question but that the people of this county responded to the invitation heartily. This was also Ripley county day at the jubilee.

One hundred tickets to Greensburg were sold over the Big Four today, and this did not take into account the large numbers who went in automobiles. The exodus was more general from the southern part of the county than elsewhere. Scores of Milroy people attended, according to reports from that place.

Many Rushville people planned to motor to Greensburg late this afternoon for the jubilee and dance which will be held tonight at the Dalmert hall.

CHICAGO CUBS TO PLAY FOR HARDING

National League Team Will Stage Exhibition Game With Local Aggregation at Marion.

CHANCE REMARK RESPONSIBLE

Marion, O., Aug. 26—The Chicago Cubs are to do their bit for Senator Harding's front porch campaign by coming to Marion September 2 to play an exhibition game with local semi-professionals. The engagement was made today as a result of a chance remark by the senator that one of the big handicaps of the front porch was his inability to see baseball games.

William Wrigley and A. D. Lasker, two of the principal owners of the Cubs and both connected with the publicity end of the Harding campaign, arranged for the trip and offered to lend the locals any Cub battery they might pick from the game. Tyler and O'Farrell have been selected.

Both Senator and Mrs. Harding are fans and they have promised to do their share to make the occasion a red letter day at the Marion ball park. The candidate will pitch the first ball. Admission will be free, but the limited space in the grand stand will be sold and the proceeds given to charity.

Babe Ruth, home-run king, will call on Harding about the middle of September, bringing his wife. It was planned to have him play in the game against the Cubs, but he could not arrange to be here.

Most of today Senator Harding spent in consultation with various party leaders on campaign policies. Among those on his appointment list were Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois, former Senator George Sutherland of Utah, and Myron T. Herrick of Ohio, former ambassador to France. It was understood that the league issue was the principal subject of discussion, both Mr. Herrick and Mr. Sutherland, who is president of the American Bar Association, being close students of international affairs.

RUSSIA ANSWERS THE ULTIMATUM

Offers to Waive Any of Armistice Terms Not in Digest Previously Submitted

IS CONCILIATORY IN TONE

"Backs Down" On Polish Disarmament Demand But Insists Honest Bid For Peace be Made

(By United Press)

London, Aug. 26—Russia, replied to the Anglo-Italian ultimatum today offering to waive any of the armistice terms proposed at Minsk which were not contained in the digest which Commissioner Kamenoff previously submitted to Premier Lloyd George.

The Bolshevik note was conciliatory in tone. It waived the proposal for a "civil militia" in Poland, "backed down" on the demands for Polish disarmament but demanded that Poland make an honest bid for peace and cease interruption of the Minsk negotiations.

The time limit for Russia's reply was to have expired tomorrow evening.

The note signed by the foreign minister, was an answer to the communication prepared by Arthur Balfour, lord president of the council, demanding that Russia modify her armistice terms to Poland to conform with those submitted to the British premier.

Great Britain and Italy particularly objected to the proposal that Poland replace her regular army with a "civil militia" composed of workers whom Russia declared could be depended upon not to attack the soviet government. The Anglo-Italian ultimatum was decided upon at a conference of Premier Lloyd George and the Italian premier at Lucerne.

The soviet note was one of considerable length. On some points the note was inclined to be argumentative. They reproached the entente for the sending of their ultimatum and declared that they would deal with Poland alone regarding peace.

15th Red Army Surrounded

Warsaw, Aug. 26—On the central front the Poles have carried out a flanking movement to the north and have occupied Kayszyn, fifteen miles northwest of Bialystok, and Stakis, twelve miles northwest of Lomza.

I. & C. BUYS A SITE FOR ITS STOCK YARDS

Acre and Half of Ground Near Hackleman's Stop is Purchased of Dr. F. G. Hackleman.

NEW STOCK CARS BEING USED

The I. and C. Interurban company has bought an acre and a half of land from Dr. F. G. Hackleman, and will soon start construction on modern stock pens, to take care of the shipping of live stock from this city to Indianapolis. The deal for the land was closed yesterday, the consideration not being made public.

The 1 1/2 acres are located at the Hackleman stop, which is the first crossing just west of Spencer street. It has been pointed out that most of the live stock is hauled to the stock pens, and by building the pens at the edge of the city, it will not be any drawback for the shippers.

The construction work will probably begin at once, and modern pens and equipment will be provided for the shippers. At present time stock trains are being operated on the Greensburg division from that city to Indianapolis. Stock cars have been built for the traction company and as many as four cars are shipped at one time. The addition of the stock pens will mean quicker transportation service, as the cars are delivered to the Indianapolis stock market in less than two hours, and service will be provided as often as needed.

HIGH AT MEETING

can following the Cleveland period of hard times in 1893. The speakers each of whom received a generous reception, included Congressman Richard M. Elliott, Warren T. McCray, Republican nominee for Governor, Senator Watson, Mrs. Frank Dobson of Iowa, State Chairman Wagnath and Harry C. Hoover of Wayne county, a civil war veteran who was a witness to the assassination of Lincoln. A colored quartet made a hit with its campaign songs; one of which was dedicated to Farmer McCray. A large picture of Warren G. Harding had a place above the speakers' stand.

Mrs. Dodson, who is the Iowa woman state chairman, made a republican speech that received the applause of men and women hearers alike. She gave her reasons for believing that women will largely affiliate with the republican cause. She told how the Susan B. Anthony suffrage amendment had been adopted by the present republican congress following its defeat by the last democratic congress, and gave figures to show that most of the opposition came from democratic members, especially those from the "solid South." She declared that republican states had taken progressive steps to end child labor and adopt legislation in behalf of employed women. She said that it was in southern states where the democrats are in the saddle that child labor had been a curse.

Child labor, she said, and illiteracy go hand in hand. She asserted that twenty-six republican states, and only seven democratic states have any form of compulsory education. This is the home town of the sixth district representative in congress, Richard M. Elliott, who has been nominated for re-election, and he was given an enthusiastic greeting when he spoke. Women in the audience remembered that Mr. Elliott was a member of the house committee on suffrage which rushed the adoption of the suffrage amendment at the recent session of congress and they gave him a big hand.

Mr. Elliott expressed his pleasure that women have at last attained the right of suffrage, and he urged that they register on September 4 and thus qualify to vote in November. He recalled that George W. Julian, then a resident of Centerville and a member of congress from this district, was the sponsor for the first federal suffrage amendment introduced in congress, this being in the seventies. Recalling the suffrage fight in the recent congress, Mr. Elliott said that the amendment was adopted by the house of representatives by a vote of 364 to 90, and that of the opposition votes cast, seventy-two were democratic and only eighteen republican.

Mr. McCray, heralded as the farmer-business man candidate for governor, was roundly applauded when he declared:

"I have no hobbies or fads to try out."

The applause continued when he said:

"I believe the office of governor is essentially an executive office."

have but one crowning political ambition," he continued, "and that is to give them an administration that will be marked as being successful in all things pertaining to good government."

He declared his belief that the same business principles which any well managed and successful business organization would employ can be applied with equal success and satisfaction in handling the business of the state. He advocated the adoption of a budget system as a business method of controlling disbursements in the handling of the state's fiscal affairs.

SCOUTS' EMERGENCY SERVICE.

How boy scouts hold themselves ready to render a service where intelligence and promptness are needed is illustrated by the following note from Scout Executive A. A. Jameson of Atlanta, Ga.:

"Miss Anne Morgan was in Atlanta recently in connection with her work for devastated France. She desired to show a certain movie film at Macon. She phoned scout headquarters and asked if we could provide a scout to go to Washington, D. C., secure the film and deliver it to her in Macon in time for a showing there. We selected Scout Barton Ford, and he left on an hour's notice, making close connections on the entire trip and arriving in Macon on schedule time. He was in Washington only from 1 o'clock at night till 7:30 in the morning, so he did not get to see much of the capital."

SCOUT PREPAREDNESS PRAYER.

O God of all humanity, grant to us as Boy Scouts the constant vision of great service. And grant us energy to learn our work—to be prepared.

Give us this day not only the joy of its good turns, but the practice in service, in thoughtfulness and forethought, in decision, and in sacrifice. So bring us with warmed hearts, trained minds and fit bodies to that great unknown hour of emergency, for which we as scouts are pledged to "be prepared."—Scouting.

TO BEGIN REVIVAL SUNDAY

Services at the Plum Creek Christian church Sunday will mark the opening of a series of protracted meetings. There will be services Sunday morning and afternoon and a basket dinner will be served at noon.

The game of basketball was invented in 1891 by James Naismith.

BETWEEN a cruel and powerful Sheik of Arabia and a daring American captain of the famous Black Horse Troop, a deadly feud arose for possession of Sari, the lovely, unveiled Syrian beggar girl of the Stamboul streets. One she hated and dreaded—the other she almost loved. Then, one fateful day, she entered, unseen, a Turkish mosque, forbidden to women under penalty of death. There she saw a sight that froze the blood in her veins—that changed her in a moment from a care-free girl to a woman. What was the dreadful act Sari saw in the sacred mosque; who committed it, and why? What became of the Sheik and the American as a consequence or what she saw? Those are the tremendous moments in "The Virgin of Stamboul." Don't miss them. Now playing.

Of course you can! When properly fitted glasses relieve the strain on the delicate eye-muscles and nerves, you can tell the difference at once.

Perfect vision is a rarity. Many persons suffer the ill effects of impaired vision because they do not realize to what extent their sight might be helped with properly fitted glasses.

It is such a simple matter to find out whether or not your eyes need glasses that no one should continue to put it off from day to day. Why not call and see us!

direct their efforts toward having the United States supreme court pass on the legality of Tennessee's ratification. Suffrage opponents predicted the court would hold that the legislature had no authority to act.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, was expected to arrive in Washington from Nashville, in time for a suffrage jollification, which will be held here tonight in a theatre.

Alfred D. Smith, attorney for Charles S. Fairchild, an official of the American Constitutional League on whose behalf and of the league the petition for an injunction against Mr. Colby was filed, said after the ruling that he would ask a formal order of the dismissal from Justice Siddons, in order that he might appeal to the District of Columbia court of appeals at once, with a request that the case be certified directly to the United States supreme court, and set for early trial.

The action of Justice Siddons yesterday in denying an injunction, paralleled in a measure that of Justice Bailey, of the same court, last month, except that Justice Bailey granted a "show cause" order against Secretary Colby in a similar bill filed by the same plaintiffs, but after hearing, declined to issue the injunction asked, on grounds of lack of jurisdiction and insufficient showing. In dismissing the bill yesterday, Justice Siddons said he did not wish to review Justice Bailey's action in a similar case, and that to issue the show cause order would be an "unwarranted interference with a purely ministerial action of the secretary of state."

Mr. Smith said he still hoped to obtain a decision before the November election. If, however, the appeal should be carried through the District of Columbia court of appeals to the supreme court of the United States, it could not be argued until after the regular session of the court, which would open in October. This decision would be reached before the election day. In that event, it was expected that the women of the country would be legally entitled to vote, with the result that, should the supreme court later decide against the legality of the Tennessee ratification, the validity of the entire national election would be in question.

The anti-suffrage forces also are challenging the legality of ratification in Missouri, West Virginia and Ohio.

TEACHERS TOIL TO RECOUP FINANCES

Instructors Make Hay While Sun Shone This Summer, Some Literally, Others Figuratively

FORCED TO SEEK EMPLOYMENT

Summer Work to Enable Pedagogues to Continue With Schools—Pay Increases Seen

New York, August 26—America's army of public school teachers will return to the classrooms next month a richer and wiser lot. For they have been making hay while the sun shone this summer—many of them literally, other figuratively.

When high price waves hit the ranks of the pedagogues last year thousands of them were forced to seek employment in other branches of endeavor, while hundreds others obtained part time work to aid in keeping the wolf from the door until the session of school was ended. Still others resolved to draw on their already salted-away resources and to stick it out until the summer vacation arrived, then to spend the hot months in working to put the money back.

School superintendents, boards of education and teachers' societies were asked in several cities how the teachers were spending the summer, and how many of them were doing other than school work, with a view to re-entering the little red school-houses all over the land in September with a fattened pocketbook.

New York—Of the 21,321 elementary, high school and vocational teachers in the greater city, most available figures show more than 5,600 obtained work on farms and in offices. Approximately 400 worked at tutoring backward students; 7,000 attended summer and vocational schools; 600 worked at canvassing, selling insurance, school books, and other field work; 100 conducted Boy Scouts' camps and personally conducted tours to nearby summer resorts, etc., while 150 were reported as doing chautauqua work. No accurate record was kept at board of education offices.

Chicago—Incomplete records kept by the teachers' federation, the board of education and parent-teachers' associations, show approximately 4,500 of the 8,558 teachers in Chicago did part or full time outside work this summer. Most of them tutored, acted as salesmen in department stores, and in the field, conducted summer camps, and worked on farms. About 2,000 attended summer schools in and out of Chicago, while more than 500 taught in night schools.

Indianapolis—E. L. Hines, superintendent of public instruction, said that scores of high and grade school principals were working as clerks and helpers in the automobile industry, while hundreds had gone to the farms.

"One cannot blame the teachers if they seek outside work, as they deserve more than the $800 a year they now get in the schools. We will be about 700 teachers short when school opens this fall."

Atlanta—Thirty percent of Atlanta's school teachers were away at college summer schools this summer trying to increase their efficiency, according to W. F. Dykes, superintendent of schools. About 20 percent of the high school teachers have resigned; and their places will have to be filled by others this fall, Dykes said. This was done because of low salaries paid, he said. Those not attending summer schools are working as clerks, salesmen and farm hands in and around Atlanta.

Detroit—Teachers of Detroit are working in automobile factories, and selling insurance and school books. Many are engaged in educational propaganda work. No records as to actual numbers or percentages were kept.

The board of education at Detroit has filed a suit against the city to compel payment of a bonus to teachers promised in contracts for the coming year. The city controller has refused payment and many teachers declare they will not return to school houses this fall unless the matter is favorably adjusted.

Denver—Coaching students for high school and college, newspaper reporting, working on farms and in orchards, and doing clerical work have kept Denver teachers occupied this summer. Scores of teachers of both sexes have been attending summer school. Chances favor an increase in teachers' pay, education board officials declare.

New Orleans—Twenty percent of New Orleans' teachers attended summer schools, many are selling insurance, while twenty-five percent got jobs at teaching in summer courses. One is running for congress. Prospects of an increased pay check for teachers this fall are bright, according to J. M. Gwyn, superintendent. A proposed constitutional amendment will be voted on empowering the state to levy a 7-mill tax on all property for school purposes.

New Haven—Acting as governesses, nurses, saleswomen, agents and summer school teachers have been vocations picked out by New Haven school teachers to fatten their pocketbooks this summer.

New Haven teachers are hopeful that the coming school year may not cause them to much want as was experienced last year. A thirty-three percent increase in pay is effective September 1, and there will likely be enough teachers for all the schools, according to Superintendent F. H. Beede.

Portland, Oregon—Fewer teachers in Portland sought outside work this summer than usual. Officials say the reasons are that there is not the same demand for help as there was before the war; that summer courses offered this year were more attractive than before, and that Portland teachers were given a flat increase of $400 over last year. Of those who worked this summer most of them went to farms and ranches, it was reported.

San Antonio—Judging from summer addresses given me, most of the teachers of San Antonio are at home helping mother, said Jeremiah Rhodes, superintendent of schools. Teachers will be given a $150 increase at the beginning of the session next month, Rhodes said.

Springfield, Ill.—Working on Illinois farms and tutoring appear to be the vocations selected by teachers at Springfield this summer. Reports from superintendents show there will be a shortage of teachers this fall. A change in the maximum salary fixed by the state legislature will be necessary before there will be a change for the better, it was said.

Seats will be on sale for the big home talent K. of P. Minstrels Saturday, August 28, at Hargrove & Mullin's drug store at 9:00 A. M. Limit, 10 tickets to person. 75c and $1.00 plus war tax. 13618

STOCKING OF STATE WATERS CONTINUES

During First 10 days of August 18,200 Bass And Crappie Fingerlings are Distributed

BIG DEMAND FOR BLACK BASS

Total Output of All State Fish Hatcheries up to Aug. 1 Was 551,585 For Planting

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 26—Further stocking of state waters by the division of fish and game of the Department of Conservation is being carried out on an extensive scale from the state fish hatcheries.

During the first ten days of August, according to George N. Mannfeld, division chief, 18,200 bass and crappie fingerlings were delivered from the Riverside hatchery and waters in Washington, Orange, Lawrence, Randolph, Wells, Huntington and Madison counties were stocked on applications of fish and game protective associations and individuals.

The total fish plants distributed from the Riverside state hatchery so far this season is 398,585 of which 391,875 were black bass and 6,710 crappie.

The greatest demand has been for black bass plants.

"We are particularly fortunate in affecting an arrangement with the Marion County Fish and Game Protection Association, long engaged in the propagation of bass for restocking Marion county waters," says Mr. Mannfeld, "for the association was kind enough to make available for use by the state its buildings, ponds and equipment."

Members also contributed from the association's brood stock of bass and some were given to the state hatchery.

This year the state and association hatchery is operated as one, under the supervision of Wm. Borden-kecker, whose work as a fish culturist is particularly gratifying. Work at the three other state hatcheries also was stimulated. Mr. Mannfeld says, and the season's output up to Aug. 1 for the four state hatcheries was 551,585 fish for planting, all raised in ponds.

RUSSIA ANSWERS THE ULTIMATUM

Occupation of these towns and the capture of Kolno completes the work of forming a ring around the 15th Bolshevik army.

Other soviet forces have reassembled at various places and are making repeated attacks in their attempts to break the Polish cordon. Nine attacks were made in the region of Kolno, but are all said to have been repulsed with enormous losses. Among the captives is the commander of a Bolshevik division.

Remnants of the 4th Bolshevik army, which were cut off by the Polish advance in the region of Kolno, have succeeded in cutting their way through to the eastward after a battle lasting ten hours, according to an official statement issued here. The soviet troops carried out a regrouping maneuver and succeeded in making their way out of the trap which had closed on them, but at last accounts were again surrounded by more numerous forces of the 4th Polish army.

The 4th Polish army continues its work of rounding up detachments of Bolsheviks in the region west of the railroad running from Modlin to Mlava.

In the maneuver, which resulted in the occupation of Lomza, the Poles took more than 2,000 prisoners and nine cannon. There was street fighting in Bialystok for more than twenty-four hours before the Bolsheviks were ejected. Reports re-

LAW REFORMS URGED AT BAR CONVENTION

Method of Elevating Legal Profession Also Proposed at Annual Meeting of Attorneys.

WOULD INCORPORATE BODIES

St. Louis, Aug. 26.—Law reforms and methods of elevating the standards of the legal profession were under consideration at the annual convention of the American Bar Association here today.

The need for maintaining professional standard of unimpeachable character was emphasized in reports submitted to the convention, both by the committee on professional ethics and grievances and by the newly organized section of the conference of bar association delegates.

The latter body recommended that the bars of the several states be incorporated, and that all members be members of the corporation and subject to its rules of discipline. The report also urged closer co-operation among bar associations.

The question of bar incorporation was treated also by the committee on professional ethics and grievances, which, it was said, has conducted a nation-wide inquiry among the judiciary during the last year.

ceived at the war department say the 55th Bolshevik division has been called from Grodno, to attempt to drive Poles out of Bialystok. In the neighborhood of that city more than 7,000 prisoners and eighteen guns were taken by the Poles.

Polish troops yesterday, after hard fighting, captured the fortress of Ostrolenka, twenty-two miles southwest of Lomza, and forced a passage of the Narew river. Polish successes in the neighborhood of Lemberg are also reported. The French General Lamezan has taken command on the Polish southern front, it is reported.

Soviet troops are reported to be concentrating in great numbers along the Beresina river, where the recent offensive against Warsaw was begun, and military observers here are speculating as to the possibility they may begin an attack against the central Polish front. It is believed possible the Bolsheviks may make a stand in the event the Poles continue their pursuit of the retreating soviet armies eastward from the Bug river on the south, and the Grodno, on the north.

PICKED DYNAMITE CAP.

Elwood, Ind., Aug. 26.—Miss Mildred Murray, age sixteen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Murray, found some old cartridges and caps in a trunk last night and picked a dynamite cap with a hairpin until it exploded. Both of the girl's hands were injured, the left being so badly shattered that it was necessary to amputate the thumb and three fingers. The thumb and index finger on the right hand probably will be saved.

GERMANY BENEFITS BY SPA DECISION

Coal Agreement Has Stimulated Nation to Water Power Development to Conserve Coal

STIMULATED NATIONAL UNITY

Forced Development of a Plan For Dividing the Nation Into "Economic Districts"

By CARL D. GROAT (C. P. Staff Correspondent)

Berlin, Aug. 6 (By Mail).—While many industrial chieftains predict calamitous results from the Spa coal agreement, especially in the coming winter, the agreement is bringing Germany certain blessings in disguise.

First, it has stimulated the nation to water power development.

Second, it has shown industrial leaders the need of unified effort, and has forced development of a plan for dividing the nation into "economic districts" for economic use of water, gas and electricity.

Third, it has stimulated national unity more than any event since the war, and is helping give the separatists movement in south Germany, a serious black eye.

Development of waterpower, particularly in south Germany is no new thought. Keen engineers have been studying this problem for a long time, and have previously taken steps toward utilizing water as a supplement to other power.

But, with signing of the coal agreement in Spa, the nation came face to face with the problem—more power, with less coal. It realized that it was going to have shorter coal rations this winter than before. Hence, the idea of water power development.

The Reichswirtschaftsrat—a body of the brainiest business and industrial leaders of Germany—sitting soon after Spa, had before it a resolution which said:

"For relief of the emergency situation, created by coal deliveries to the Ausland, the government will immediately take steps for building up water power as fast as possible and in the best possible manner, especially in South Germany."

A companion resolution called for creation of a committee of experts whose duty it would be to draw the lines for division of the nation into economic units. In these subdivisions, a unified system of power, water, gas, electricity supply would be worked out.

As for the third point—stimulation of national unity of spirit—it can be said that the north and the south are realizing that they must pull together if they are to avoid foreign occupation of the Ruhr and infinite resultant damage to German business therefrom.

And the miners themselves are hanging the threat of the freezing and starvation over the heads of day August 30.

separatists agitators. Herr Hue, miner leader, has served notice in no uncertain terms that any portion of the country indulging in a separatist movement will be shut off immediately from any further supply of coal.

The nation as a whole is taking the Spa agreement in good spirit, despite many voices which say that it spells industrial stagnation this winter, with the consequent throwing of several hundred thousand workers out of employment. Germany doesn't like the Spa coal agreement; it has been told that it is more than Germany can bear, but insofar as one now can see, the whole country is determined to do its best to fulfill the treaty. Then, it hopes that later the Entente will be ready for more modification of the Versailles pact.

An interesting phase of the whole subject is that many observers are inclined to believe that the measures now being taken toward fulfillment of the coal pact, curtailment of coal usage, and utilization of other means of power are forerunners of an earlier socialization of coal and water power than otherwise might have been the case. The coal mines have long since lost their original strictly private character, and stand under considerable government control. But, as things now trend, there are signs that actual socialization will be accomplished—and that the day has been moved forward by the Spa conference.

TO REBUILD FORT DEARBORN

Plan to Reconstruct Old Fort as a Permanent Educational Exhibit

Chicago, August 26.—Plans are being made here to reconstruct historic Fort Dearborn at Eighteenth street and Lake Michigan as a permanent educational exhibit.

In addition to the stockade, it is proposed that the homes of the earliest settlers of Chicago or "Fort Dearborn" shall be rebuilt. The work will be done under the direction of Chicago's First Families.

FIRST JURY OF WOMEN

Akron, O., Aug. 26.—State history was made in the little drab municipal courtroom of Judge A. F. O'Neil late yesterday when a jury of twelve women returned a verdict for the defendant in an eviction case. It is the first time a woman jury has ever passed on a legal case in Ohio, and one of the few women juries that has ever been impaneled in the country. The decision of the jury saved a newly wedded couple from being evicted from their home. Attorneys for the plaintiff said they were satisfied with the verdict and would not appeal.

FALL IN RETAIL PRICE OF COAL IS FORECAST

Prediction is Made Coincident With Announcement of Renewal of Campaign on Profiteers

DROP AT BALTIMORE ALREADY

Washington, Aug. 26.—Forecast of a tumble in coal prices was made by department of justice officials coincident with the announcement of renewed activities in the campaign against coal profiteers. With production on the increase prediction was made that the coal market would follow sugar prices in a break in the near future.

Prices already have dropped at Baltimore, where the federal agents started to gather evidence against an alleged combination of dealers who were declared to have boosted prices through repeated resales. A similar attack on profiteers has been ordered at Hampton Roads, one of the largest bunkering stations on the eastern seaboard. Complaints have come frequently from there and from Baltimore, it was said.

Although interior points have reported exorbitant coal prices in many instances, it was said that the "flagrant violations" of the Lever law were confined largely to the Atlantic coast. The department will press its investigations at all points, however, as a part of the program outlined Monday when the attorney-general instructed all United States attorneys to delve into the coal price situation more deeply on the basis of information that pyramiding of prices has been accomplished through interstate sales.

The department's hands are tied at Philadelphia by a court order restraining the United States attorney from prosecuting profiteers under the Lever law, which was held to be unconstitutional by the court there. But the court will not stay the gathering of evidence, according to H. S. Mitchell, special assistant to the attorney-general, who is directing the campaign.

Thousands of people—Turks, Armenians, Arabians and Negroes, thousand of horses, camels, donkeys and dogs—and a cast of principals and all-star calibre surround Priscilla Dean in her latest Universal Jewel master-feature, "The Virgin of Stamboul" which will be shown at the Mystic Theatre next Monday and Tuesday. Tod Browning directed this production based on H. H. Van Loan's engrossing story.

The Mosque of Aya Sophia, one of the picturesque landmarks of the ancient quarter of Constantinople, is faithfully reproduced for one sequence of scenes in "The Virgin of Stamboul", starring Priscilla Dean, which is to be seen at the Mystic Theatre. The evening program for the two nights will be a benefit show for the Psi Iota Xi sorority of this city.

Good Feature for Alice Joyce

Alice Joyce will be seen at the Princess theater today and tomorrow, in another big special production, entitled "Dollars and the Woman". This is an adaptation from the widely read magazine story by Albert Payson Terhune.

The motion picture public link the name of Alice Joyce with big things, and each release strengthens this faith in the ability of the actress. "Dollars and the Woman" is appropriate for two reasons. First, it is a continuation of Vitagraph's policy of producing stories by great authors, and, secondly, it gives Miss Joyce a role somewhat different from anything in which she has appeared before.

"Dollars and the Woman" is a story of contrast. It is a tale of wealth and abject poverty—dramatic, but not melodramatic, and, above all, consistent and true to life. It contains many human interest touches such as only an artist can delineate. These little spots of realism when handled by Miss Joyce assumes new proportions. They become vital to the story and make the star take a new position in the firmament of dramatic achievement.

A cast of well-known players supplemented by an orchestra from one of New York's big hotels, and 20 extra players support Miss Joyce in this special production. Robert Gordon, recently co-starred in several pictures with Sylvia Breamer, Miss Joyce's leading man.
